Department of Economics
Best Practice Report Annual 2021-2022

Continuous efforts are being made by the Department of Economics to financial literacy the women of Chandanpuri village of Malegaon taluka to inform them about various saving schemes to financially empower the women of BPL families . Women are being guided to become financially self-reliant through the students studying in the undergraduate and postgraduate classes in the Department of Economics and with the support of Smt Suvarnatai Salunkhe, head of the women's self-help group in Chandanpuri village.

On January 07, 2022, HOD of the Economics Dr. M. V. Hiray and all other professors of Economics Department were present at Chandanpuri to inform the women of Chandanpuri village about various savings schemes. On this occasion, the women below the poverty line were told in detail about the various savings schemes of the Post Office and the Jan Dhan Department started by the Central Government. 28 women were present on this occasion.

Under BPL families women are being encouraged to saving through the students of the Department of Economics who are studying in UG & PG classes.
